Two persons perished in a burning hotel at Bathurst, Ont.

A schooner with a crew of 12 is believed to be lost off the Labrador coast.

Twenty persons were drowned by the wrecking of a boat near Gibraltar.

Militia have gone to Lowe township, Que., to enforce the collection of taxes.

Members of the British government are averring their connection with joint stock companies.

An officer of the interior department will be sent to Indiana to induce German Baptists to settle in Manitoba.

Rev. Dr. Hies, of Toronto, is dead. Robt. L. Gault, of Montreal, is dead. Dr. Smith, author of "America," is dead.

In a speech at Mono Mills Dalton McCarthy blamed Sir John Thompson for the present status of the Manitoba school question.

An electric motor car ran through a draw-bridge at Cleveland, and dropped 101 feet into the river below. Fifteen persons were drowned.

Thos. Rattray, St. Paul's parish, broke through the ice while attempting to cross Red River on Saturday afternoon and was drowned.

It is intimated that the British government will submit a bill to parliament authorizing loans to landlords at 3 per cent interest. An employer's liability bill and an Irish land bill are also promised.

BATTLEFORD, Nov. 14th.

The bachelor's ball given at the Queen's hotel last week was a complete success.

Surplus onions and other vegetables are being shipped from here to the Prince Albert market.

The weather seems to have settled down for a fine spell, which is specially welcomed by the ranchers.

Considerable repairs have been made to the Indian agent's private residence, which were badly needed.

Pomerleau & Bourne are shipping to-day ten thousand pounds of creamery butter to British Columbia market.

Mr. Charles Nolin, ex-M. L. A., and resident of St. Laurent, is now a citizen of the town, with all his family.

Mr. Fleetham, agency clerk here, is returning from Regina by to-day's stage accompanied by Mrs. Fleetham.

Hay is a very scarce article around town on account of very bad prairie fires, which burnt all summer and which consumed several hundred tons of hay.

R. H. Mair, farm instructor at Moosomin's reserve, who went to Prince Albert two weeks ago for the purpose of bringing his family from there, had to return without them on account of the illness of his daughter, who has since died. Mr. Mair received the sad information on his arrival here.

LOCAL.

Council meeting Wednesday night.

The upper ferry was running to-day.

Thanksgiving day on Thursday next, Nov. 23rd, a public holiday.

Jas. Walsh, fur buyer, left on Friday's train for Wetaskiwin on a buying trip.

Mr. McNamara, senior, has rented from P. Heimick the building formerly occupied by John Cameron as a store, and has opened business in the purchase of hides and wool.

Jon. Kelly has rented the warehouse on Fraser avenue, west of the fire hall, as a grain warehouse and is buying grain for cash. He has already purchased about 2,000 bushels of good oats.

Larue & Picard are buying grain extensively and report that it has been coming in freely. They have already purchased about 5,000 bushels of wheat, oats and barley, chiefly from Stony Plain settlement.

A private letter from J. A. McDougall says that he reached Vancouver on the 9th. The weather was beautiful and roses were in bloom. He was going on to Vancouver next day and from there would take steamer for San Francisco. He was feeling much better in health.

P. McFarlane returned on Thursday's train from a visit to his home in Stirlingshire, Scotland. Mr. McFarlane was in the mounted police five years before this visit. He had a most enjoyable trip and visit. Times are fairly good in Scotland. The harvest was an average one, although the weather was rather dry. He found very little feeling in favor of immigration to the Northwest. Manitoba seemed to have a hard name and Manitoba included all Western Canada in the minds of most of the people. He also visited the north of Ireland and found agricultural matters much the same as in Scotland, the general complaint being that there was no money in farming, and yet the farms and farmers seemed prosperous and comfortable.

The annual meeting of the St. Andrews society was held in the council chamber on Thursday evening, the president, G. J. Kinnaird, in the chair. The principal business was the election of officers, which resulted in the re-election of G. J. Kinnaird as president, and W. S. Edmiston as vice-president. Thos. Hourston was elected second vice-president, W. McAdam secretary, W. Johnstone Walker, treasurer; Rev. D. G. McQueen, chaplain; K. A. McLeod, standard bearer; J. R. Turnbull, bard; and Thos. Hourston, piper. Committees were appointed on relief, entertainments, and finance, the whole to form a committee of management. It was decided to hold the annual dinner on St. Andrews night, Nov. 30th. Messrs. Kinnaird, Edmiston, Hourston, Turnbull and McLeod were appointed a committee to make the arrangements.

REV. G. W. DEAN returned from Brandon and Banff on Thursday's train.

THURSDAY'S train brought one car of groceries for Galt Bros. and two way cars.

CHRISTMAS tree entertainment in Horse hills school house on Monday evening December 23rd.

FALL plowing was practicable until Saturday night in many localities, but has ceased this morning. In several seasons plowing has continued here until Nov. 16.

THE Edmonton Pork Packing Company is buying feed barley and wheat to be used for next season's feeding on their hog ranch at Scheideam. They are storing it in the Fielders' warehouse.

WHILE Canadian cheese and Canadian bacon command the top price in England, Canadian butter is far down in the scale. While Canadian is 116 shillings per 112 pounds, Australian is 130 shillings and Danish 146 shillings.

J. BATTY, of Menawan, was in town on Saturday. He disposed of several head of fat cattle to L. Moret, of Fort Saskatchewan, who has the police beef contract. Mr. Batty did not lose any hay by the fires that were so destructive at Egg lake.

GEO. JACOB, inspector of agencies for the Royal Insurance company, visited Edmonton last week, going out on Friday's train. He was delighted with Edmonton and well pleased with the business done here by his company, which is claimed to be the largest in the world.

GEO. ROR, registrar, is laid up with a dislocated ankle and will be unable to attend at the registry office for a couple of weeks. He tripped over a fallen tree when walking by a path through the woods from Jasper avenue to his residence on Tuesday evening of last week, and reached home on his hands and knees suffering great pain.

On Friday morning the river, which had been running ice ever since the 5th so as to prevent the ferry across from running, was perfectly clear, and the upper ferry was again put in commission. The weather turned still more mild during Friday and on Friday night considerable rain fell, making the streets muddy on Saturday and thawing away the shore ice on the river. Rain fell on Saturday afternoon.

PAUL FAILLANT, a French half breed, at one time of Edmonton, where he was known as Little Paul, was found dead in the Bow river at the Langevin bridge on Saturday, Nov. 9th. Two sheep shearers, named Charles Sparrow and Peter Brotherton, were arrested on suspicion of being implicated in his death. An inquest was held on Wednesday last. When found the body had no marks of violence, but it is reported that medical experts say that death occurred before he fell in the water.

THE papers are asking "Where is Nansen?" Dr. Nansen, the Arctic explorer, left Norway in the ship Fram in June of 1893, bound for the north pole. The latest news heard from him was in August of 1893, but he told his friends not to worry about him until he had been absent four years. A report is now current that his ship has been seen by Esquimaux off the east coast of Greenland embedded in ice. If this is the case he has probably sailed over the pole, but the report is doubted. His idea was that the drift of ice would carry him to the pole, and that is why he prepared for such a long stay.

A SOCIAL in aid of the funds of the Epworth league of the Methodist church, was held at the residence of Mrs. F. Armstrong on Friday evening. There was a large attendance, although the evening was damp and dark. Parlor games and general conversation occupied the party until tea was served about nine o'clock, after which a short programme was given as follows: Duett, Misses Eva and Millie Dean. Reading, "An Irish girl's experience," Miss Taylor. Duett, "Someone knocking," Misses Nita and Blondine Dorais, encore. Cornet solo, Mr. Hockley, accompanied by Mrs. Hockley on the organ. Solo, "When you and I were young, Maggie," Mrs. Dean. Stump speech by Dr. Goodwin.

W. D. MATTHESON, fisheries inspector, returned on Thursday from a visit to Lake St. Ann. The regulations prohibiting fishing had been thoroughly observed, and the guardian, Felix Dumont, was relieved from duty, as have all guardians north of the Saskatchewan. The guardian at Pigeon lake is still on duty. The lake was still open and ducks and geese were numerous. Ice had formed in the bays and the Narrows was frozen across. The half breeds living around the lake farm very little, the largest farmer being Mr. Plante, who had this year about 150 bushels of grain, the crop being light. Both Indians and half breeds are very short of food, with worse prospects for the winter. Messrs. Cowan and Hardisty were at the lake on their way west, rigging up their pack horses. They will have eight pack horses. Threshing was in progress on Michel's reserve, west of St. Albert, on Mr. Matheson's return and crops were good, Michel himself had 35 acres of crop.

JAS. DINNEN returned from a freighting trip to Cameron & Tupper's trading post at Cold lake on Thursday, making the return journey in seven days. There is a Chipewyan Indian settlement there and the Indians seem to be in very good circumstances. They do not raise grain, although the soil and climate seem favorable, but have cattle and horses in large numbers. One Indian is said to own 60 head of cattle. They drive double wagons and are well dressed like white people. There is a Roman Catholic mission there in charge of Rev. Father Legoff. The Beaver river was frozen over and there was some snow on the ground when Mr. Dinnen left. The Beaver is a comparatively small stream, about twice as large as the Sturgeon, flowing between banks nearly as high as those of the Saskatchewan. Cold lake has excellent speckled trout in it. The road from Frog lake to Cold lake is partly through heavy timber on each side of Moose lake, but the greater part of the country is prairie and timber mixed. Long lake, between Moose lake and the Beaver river, has a hay marsh ten miles long of excellent hay. The soil generally seems fertile, but differs from that at Edmonton in that it has some stone in it.

A DWELLING on Kinistino avenue, owned by Jas. Stovel, was removed on Saturday to near McDougall street by S. McCauley.

A LARGE safe, part of the Lindow & Grindley property of Fort Saskatchewan, was sold by auction on Saturday afternoon and was purchased by H. Robertson for $131.

The weather was mild and damp yesterday, but is cool this morning with some snow in the air and signs of more to come. The river which was clear since Friday morning has a small amount of running ice this morning.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOVEMBER 19th, 1905.

ECONOMY.

That the present government cultivates the virtue of economy to an extreme as far as Northwest matters are concerned, we all have had ample evidence in late years. Probably the latest and most extreme case is the closing of the land office at Wetaskiwin for the winter. The Wetaskiwin office holds the record for the Territories in entries for the first six months of this year, and although the entries are not likely to be as numerous in the winter months, still there will be some entries to be made, and the winter is the season for the distribution of information. If the closing of the office meant any large saving of expense that might be an excuse, but this closing of the land office having the largest number of entries in the Territories means the saving of light and fuel only, for the rent of the building and the agent's salary has to be paid whether he is at Wetaskiwin or Red Deer. Truly this is economy run mad. To make the matter worse the office was not closed without a full knowledge of the facts, for the Wetaskiwin people took means to bring the case to the attention of the department of interior.

This is even a worse case than the closing of the Beaver lake office a couple of months ago. It is true there were not a very large number of entries there during the past summer; but surely the government does not depend on the amount of fees received for homestead entry to support the office, and give a profit besides. There was a large area of country which was strongly attracting the attention of settlers, it was far removed from any land office, and this was a great draw back to its settlement. The land office that was established was valuable and necessary as an intelligence office if nothing else, and did good work as such at only the expense of a clerk's salary. To close that office is certainly an economy in expenditure, but it is a waste and loss if the advantage to the settlement of the district is considered. The difference between the closing of the Beaver lake and Wetaskiwin offices is only that the latter is the more extreme case.

SMALL BUSINESS.

The tendency to centralization which appears in all affairs of government comes from the natural desire to promote the convenience of officials. Within certain limits this tendency is commendable, but there are circumstances under which it amounts to a sacrifice of the public interest for the convenience of the government office. We have had many instances of this in the history of the Northwest, some on a large scale and some on a scale that is very small. The latest instance is of the latter kind, and the Indian department is the branch that figures. The department provides free medical attendance for the Indians, and this involves the purchase of a larger or smaller quantity of drugs. Hitherto the rule in this district has been to purchase the drugs required in the Stony Plain and Saddle lake agencies at Edmonton. At no time in the history of this place were the drug stores better able to furnish a full supply of all the drugs required than at present. And yet the BULLETIN is informed that on the completion of the late Indian treaty payments in the district, when application was made for authority to procure a fresh supply of drugs, the physician was informed that they must be procured direct from Regina. There might be circumstances or reasons which would warrant the sending away for such supplies, but no such circumstances exist in this case. No complaint has been made as to the quality of the drugs or the price charged, then why should the delay and risk entailed in sending so far be incurred. If the department were a private individual it might purchase its supplies where it pleased and at such prices as it chose to pay. But it is not a private individual. On the contrary it is a public servant and discharging a public trust, and in that capacity should make its purchases where they are best available. When the purposes for which drugs are required are considered, and the fact that the time required to procure them is an important consideration, it will be seen that to make the purchases where a delay of from two to three weeks must necessarily take place, besides chance of loss by breakage or other causes, is not a policy in the public interest. Centralization is all very well where distances are short and means of communication rapid, but in this case, where centralization involves the needless doubling of a distance of six or seven hundred miles, it calls for an explanation beyond the mere convenience of the officials. Of course it is a matter of business interest to Edmonton that supplies needed in the district whenever reasonably possible be purchased in the district. And why not? Have not business men here as good a right to the government business naturally coming their way as the business men of any other place, as long as they supply as good an article at as fair a price?

THE YUKON SURVEY.

The Chicago Tribune publishes a Washington special which says that the United States Alaska boundary survey have decided that the boundary established by W. Ogilvie some years ago encroaches on United States Territory 2 1/2 feet on Forty Mile Creek and 20 feet on the Yukon river. This practically acknowledges the correctness of Ogilvie's survey. The paper goes on to say:

One of the principal points over which there has been controversy, and which is now settled, is as to the ownership of the growing town of Forty Mile City, which is situated at the mouth of Forty Mile Creek, where it empties into the Yukon river. This settlement, which has in summer a population of between 1,200 and 1,500 inhabitants, and is variously known as McQuestion's trading post, its old name, Fort Cadahy and Forty Mile, is clearly within Canadian territory.

The town and the mouth of the creek upon which it stands, are fully sixteen miles on the Canadian side of the boundary. Within the intervening country several placer gold diggings are also on the Canadian side of the line, but the principal gold mines, and those which are now proving to be the most productive and valuable, are just as clearly situated within the territory of the United States.

Mr. Ogilvie, who is a deputy land surveyor of Canada, made his calculations as to the points at which the 141st meridian, which is the boundary line, crosses the Yukon and Forty Mile creek solely by astronomical observations. The United States surveyors used both the sextant and the theodolite, and as the result of both calculations was the same they may be accepted as correct.

The mouth of Forty Mile creek is twenty-two and one-half miles from the true boundary line following the windings of the creek, and sixteen miles from the boundary in an air line. The determination of these points by the United States government will not relieve it from the necessity of securing a joint commission for making a complete survey of the 141st meridian from a point where it crosses mount St. Elias in the south clear to the Arctic ocean at the north, and the erection of suitable boundary marks along the whole distance, wherever it is practicable.

The Commercial quotes wheat prices to farmers at 40 to 42c. at country points with prospects of a decline. Oats are 17c. in Winnipeg and nothing doing. Barley 20c. to 21c.

Lethbridge News: "The division of Alberta will very probably cause a change in the boundaries of the other Territorial electoral districts, as it is expected that a portion of Western Assiniboia will be included in Southern Alberta, and this may necessitate a slice being taken off Eastern Assiniboia and given to the western riding. Residents of Alberta will undoubtedly rejoice if additional representation in parliament is accorded to them, and it will also be very satisfactory if that part of Assiniboia west of Swift Current is politically allied with Southern Alberta. The interests of this portion of Assiniboia and Southern Alberta are identical. Each is at the present time mainly a ranching country, and they together include the bulk of the fertile plains which need irrigation for the development of their resources."

An Ottawa dispatch of Nov. 11, to the Toronto World says: The government intend coming to parliament with a remedial bill in regard to the Manitoba schools, in case the Greenway government do nothing in the meantime. It will likely enact that Catholic ratepayers will be free to have their school taxes go to the support of separate schools; that they will be free to select their own text books in history, and certain privileges will be conceded in the way of religious instruction. But outside of this, any separate school thus conducted will be subject to public school inspection, teachers sent to the provincial examinations for certificates, and with reference to the text books, the authorized text books of the province. There will be no reconstitution of the old separate schools, and their inefficiency. This in well informed circles is supposed to be the extent of the government programme of remedial legislation. If it is, it will be adopted by the entire cabinet.

Free Press, Nov. 12th: Wheat in the province dropped 1c. yesterday, and 40c. is now the highest price paid for No. 1 hard. Deliveries are fairly good.

C. M. Lamson & Co., and the Hudson's Bay Company, will hold their seal skin sales in London this year on Dec. 3rd and 4th respectively. Formerly the sales were held in October, but the new regulations have made the seasons later.

Montreal Trade Bulletin: According to last mail advices from England, the wholesale price of butter had advanced 3d per lb., or 28s per cwt. within three weeks, equal to 6c per lb. here. Canadian creamery, which not long ago sold at 85s in Liverpool, has since brought 116s to 117s 6d, or a rise of 31s to 32s 6d. Australian, still in small show, sells readily at from 128s to 130s, and all offerings are cleared. Danish 142s to 144s, and coicest 146s, has checked demand to such an extent that sales are suspended therein until buyers have cleared other stocks.

BUTTER.
EDITOR BULLETIN.
Sir,—If the farmer of the Edmonton district desires to make the proceeds of the home dairy continue to pay the store account he needs to stir himself. He can no longer do it under the old churning process, for even in towns like Edmonton the creamery or factory butter is discrediting the home-made stuff and forcing it out of the market. If the storekeeper buys it at all the price is so low that the farmer begins to think that he is having a good deal of hard work for nothing, and had better be turning his good hay into beef rather than butter. This is the situation. It is not in the nature of things that the farmer of Northern Alberta shall sit down contentedly and consent to suffer quietly this curtailment of his resources. It was a good thing for him, for his wife and family, to have a store credit from the sale of home-made butter each week of $2 or $3. Beef is all well enough, but you can sell it only at long intervals; meanwhile what is to be done for ready money? The "factory" process, the "creamery," is responsible for this "smash" in the home dairy. Cannot we find a remedy in "a piece of the dog that bit us"? Why not? The farmer looks carefully into the affair and finds that a modern creamery of proper design and first class plant costs about $4,000; this includes a delivery wagon and a full supply of milk tins, everything complete. How to raise the $4,000. A joint stock Co. He needs 80 subscribers, each to put in $50 cash. He begins to canvass his neighbors. Smith and Jones on the adjoining section can't do it. They see the advantage of the scheme readily enough, and its necessity as clearly as the canvasser does, but "at present" they haven't the ready money; they may sell cattle this month or next, but the truth of the matter is they are a bit behind at the store; grain isn't easy to sell and the store account must be paid. One in ten, may be, of the farmers he visits in a long day's weary journey has the $50 and consents to subscribe it. "If you can get the other 79." Another day's canvass, with the same result. The enterprising promoter of the joint stock company feels discouraged, but finally comes upon Johnston, an old bachelor, a tidy farmer and a good one, but a surly beggar. He, happily, throws a gleam of hope into "the promoter's" project and makes him feel that his two days' work isn't quite thrown away. "Look here," he says, "there's Jenkins and me—he's a married man—and there's Sanderson and his woman, none of us with any children—their's away out of these parts long ago. Here we are, the three of us, and all have to pay taxes on a quarter or half section to school our neighbors' children, and what good does it do us? Oh, yes; it's for the benefit of the community is it? And isn't it for "the benefit" of the community to put the older ones in a way to make money, think you? Are the young going to school naked, now that Mrs. Dodds can't sell her butter and the store shuts down on her? Why can't you raise money to build a creamery as you do to build a school house? We have legislation to issue debentures for that purpose, for roads and bridges to bring our stuff to market, but, hang it, where's the stuff? Why not have legislation for that?" Is there anything in Johnston's suggestion? Can we get legislation in a matter of this sort?

WETASKIWIN.
Much indignation has been aroused here by the closing of the land office, which for some inconvertible reason, has been ordered by the authorities. Much inconvenience will be caused thereby, as settlers desiring to transact business at the office will be compelled to make the journey to Red Deer, waiting three or four days and being put to considerable expense for railway fare and hotel bills. It is considered here that the authorities have made a mistake in this instance, and the sooner it is rectified the better. Efforts are about to be made to impress the views of residents on whoever is responsible for this most unreasonable proceeding.
A very pleasing feature in connection with the closing of the land office, was a supper given by a number of residents to our genial agent, Mr. T. B. Ferguson, in view of his removal to Red Deer. Mr. Ferguson, who has resided here since 1893, has earned the respect and esteem of both townsmen and settlers, not only by his close attention to business and his ready aid to help smooth over such difficulties as will at times arise in any kind of business, but also by his genial social qualities, which always made his presence welcome at any social or private gathering. The supper was in the nature of a surprise party, Mr. Ferguson himself knowing nothing of it until asked by a friend to come into the dining room of the "Driard," where he found the table already laid, and a number of friends awaiting him. The president of the evening's entertainment at once called on the assembled guests to "fall to," and full justice was done to the good things provided by host Boyce. After the tables had been cleared and the usual loyal and other toast had been disposed of, the vice, in a short eulogistic speech, gave the toast of the evening, "Our Guest," which was enthusiastically received, and accompanied by the singing of "He's a jolly good fellow." Mr. Ferguson responded in a neat and humorous speech. The following were present: Jas. Kirkpatrick, president; J. H. McNamara, vice-president; John West, J. F. McNamee, W. Macdonnell, E. T. Jacobs, N. W. Gould, J. R. Dickson, J. Z. C. Miquelon, postmaster; N. Schmidt, J. A. O'Neil Hayes, Norman Schmidt and B. F. Boyce. Mr. Jacobs on the banjo, Mr. Smith and Mr. Hayes on the violin, added much to the evening's enjoyment. Songs, recitations and speeches with music interspersed, filled up a very enjoyable evening and closed an entertainment which will long be remembered by all who were present.

Montreal Trade Bulletin: A London, England paper says of Canadian bacon: "Pea-fed Canadian bacon is all cleared, with hardly a lot left and the value has not receded the name as that for native and Scandinavian bacon; but English cured has lessened in value by 2s to 3s per cwt. The fact that such a ready sale is experienced for Canadian bacon, that the market is generally kept pretty clear of stocks, speaks volumes for the growing popularity of this article in England, despite the glut of Irish, Danish, Scandinavian and English brands that are offered in competition with it."

LOCAL.

BOARD of trade meeting at Cowie & Gairdner's office to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at 8:30.

Mrs. ROBERT RITCHIE, of South Edmonton, returned from a visit to Ontario on Thursday's train.

WORD was received by last mail of the death in Winnipeg of the child of Mr. and Mrs. James Lauder, junior.

LIEUTENANT STEPHENS, of the Salvation army, who was junior officer at Edmonton in the spring of 1894, was married recently at Portage la Prairie.

FROM a letter received last mail by M. McCauley from Sir John Schultz, it would appear to be Sir John's intention to remove to Edmonton about Jan. 15th.

Miss SARAH MCKINLAY, daughter of Malcolm McKinlay, of Sturgeon river, is teaching Warden school on Stony Plain, in the place of Mr. Garvin, resigned.

C. GALLAGHER has packed several thousand pounds of pork during the past two weeks. He will pack all he can buy, this season. The price is 4c. a pound live weight.

A MEETING of the liberal association was held in Cowie & Gairdner's office on Friday evening. Another meeting will be held in Houtson's hall on Wednesday evening, the 27th inst.

S. S. TAYLOR has purchased the dwelling which formed part of the Brahabat coal mining property, and will remove it to a site on McDougall street. James Dinner has the contract for the removal.

THE Sturgeon grist mill began grinding last week and is said to be doing good work and getting plenty to do, the mill being full of grists waiting their turn. The capacity of the mill, which is run by water power of the Sturgeon river, is only about 100 bushels a day.

AL. Brown recently sunk a well 60 feet deep on the north side of his livery stable, in which he now has 30 feet of water. He sunk one on the south side of the stable last year about 260 feet and did not get nearly as much water. The place for boring on the north side was chosen by L. Moret, who used a watch as an indicator.

At the sale of W. S. Edmiston's cattle on Thursday last 26 head were disposed of. The highest price realized for cows was $29 per head, and the lowest $21. Three year olds averaged $25, two year olds averaged $16 and calves $7. Part of the cattle were sold on the south side as they could not be brought across the river. Had it been possible to have had the sale at one place no doubt it would have gone better.

CAPT. BAILEY, provincial agent of the grace before meat boxes of the Salvation army, arrived on Monday's train on his quarterly visit, and left on Friday. On Wednesday evening he conducted a social reform meeting in the army barracks, during which he explained the rescue work, to support which the funds from the grace before meat boxes went. On Thursday evening he gave a lantern service, the scenes being chiefly illustrative of the rescue work of the army. Both meetings were successful in attendance and financially.

AMOS GODFREY, of the late coal mining firm of Godfrey & Evans, left on last Tuesday's train for the coast. Jesse Mason who has lived in Edmonton for some years, left on the same train. On nearing Innisfail Mason entered into an altercation with Godfrey as to a matter in regard to which Mason held spite against him and clenched his arguments by striking Godfrey in the face, inflicting severe wounds. In the riot which followed Mason jumped the train, and escaped arrest. Godfrey had intended stopping over at Innisfail for a train, and now was very glad to do so to have his wounds dressed. Mason has only one hand but is very a powerful man.

GENERAL NEWS.

Ontario farmers are holding their fall wheat for better prices.

The Globe's Ottawa special of Nov. 11th, says: "If Chapleau becomes premier, he will at least stick by his friends and not allow one section of the cabinet to be the undoing of others. Chapleau does not believe in the Bowell ministry. He would dissolve and form another as the only chance of carrying the elections. He has communicated his views to the government, and in reply Bowell went to Montreal and met Chapleau. Chapleau insists on a re-organization of the ministry if he has anything to do with it. Outimet would have to go. Clarke Wallace would be required to pledge his support to remedial legislation, and in default, would receive his walking ticket. Bowell himself must give a pledge to resign immediately after the approaching session."
